CHILDREN'S DANCE THEATER PRESENT "HANSEL AND GRETEL IN THE MAGIC FOREST" MAY 31

This season the Children's Dance Theater of Bethel will present for your enjoyment, "Hansel and Gretel in the Magic Forest", based on the famous German folklore of "Hansel and Gretel". Through pantomime, song, and dance, the young people of the surrounding area will delight you with their antics.

The story is re-created by director and choreographer, Susan Farrar, to fit the needs of her dancers. With an eye and ear to entertain and amuse the audience, the music is taken from many sources. But where ever possible the original music from the opera, Hansel and Gretel, as composed by Engelbert Humperdinck is retained.

The enchanting Overture introduces all to the magic world of fantasy where the wicked step-mother played by Susan Brooke, is on the scene. She possesses hypnotic powers and by rubbing the orange wart on her nose, convinces father, the kindly woodcutter, portrayed by Bobby Tift, that they must take their children into the woods and leave them there. The delightful "Brother Come and Dance with Me" as done by Gretel, played by little six year old Cathy O'Donnell and her protective stage brother, capably performed by Tony Butters; music used for the little Bluebirds, Becky, Sue Jodrey, Kassie Salway and Jill O'Donnell, who eat the crumbs that Hansel drops on his way into the forest so he and Gretel can find their way back; the frightening forest scenes when darkness falls and Hansel and Gretel find themselves alone and hungry; the hope that the Sandman brings, dramatically portrayed by Scott Wight, as he sprinkles stardust to make them sleep; the beloved Angels Prayer interpreted by the Ballet Teen Troupe, who protect Hansel and Gretel while they sleep and lovely dewdrop, beautifully danced by Terry Roy, this year's Carnival Queen, who takes them to the Witch's cottage to the RECITAL PARTICIPANTS—Sandman, Scott Wight; Gretel, Cathy O'Donnell; Hansel, Tony Butters, who will take part in "Hansel and Gretel in the Magic Forest," next week.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The town office can now accept payment of water bills as we now have the records in the office. The management of the Water District is still in the hands of the three trustees. The District is merely paying the town for bookkeeping service.

Both Mrs. Young, town clerk, and myself will be out of town over Memorial week end. Anyone needing a fishing license will have difficulty obtaining one after Thursday night, May 29. It should be noted the office is open Friday night until 6 o'clock and not open Saturdays.

A considerable amount of work has just been completed at the dump. There has been 500 yards of gravel hauled, the area cleared and leveled. Signs have been erected to instruct users as to where to dump their rubbish. Each year we experience more difficulty keeping the area useable because of careless dumping. The expense of maintaining it will soon necessitate supervised hours the place may be used if the trend continues.

tune of lusciously spiced harmonies as delicious as the cake and candy they find there; the irresistible Gingerbread Waltz done by the children who have been captured and baked in the oven by the Wicked Witch, pantomimed most enchantingly and convincingly by Kristen Wiese, and closing with a musical affirmation that children do live happily ever after—All blended together this makes a "pot-pourri" of delightful tunes aimed to make the audience chuckle at the performances of little ones and delight in the talents of the older children.

Performances will take place on Friday, May 30, at 3:00 p. m. and on Saturday, May 31, at 8:00 p. m. at the William Bingham Auditorium.

5% SALES TAX TO BE IN EFFECT JUNE 1

Tax increases estimated to produce $31 million into the next two years were signed into law Tuesday by Governor Kenneth Curtis, along with a $277 million Part I appropriation bill to "keep the store open" for the next biennium.

Starting June 1, the Maine Sales Tax rate will rise from 4% to 5 percent, the sales tax exemption on the trade-in allowances of motor vehicles and farm tractors will be eliminated, and the cigarette tax will climb from 10 to 12 cents a package.

The appropriation bill, although some $35 million above the record appropriations for 1967-68, is only the amount needed to keep existing state services in operation for the next two years starting July 1. A Part II, or new services, budget is pending and that will require yet another tax bill.

METHODIST/CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES CONTINUE TALKS

Representatives of the Bethel Methodist Church and West Parish Congregational Church continued exploratory talks on greater cooperation and alliance in the future, in a meeting at the Methodist Church dining room, Sunday evening.

The Rev. Travers Smith and the Rev. Bruce Roberts, of the Methodist and Congregational churches respectively, were in attendance as consultants and advisors. They spoke of similarities and differences between the local churches' relationships and others around the state.

It was concluded that carrying on these conversations had already been helpful in recognizing areas of activity in which the programs of the two churches are somewhat parallel, and others in which they are less similar.

The dialogues will continue between the West Parish Church Council and the Council on Ministries of the Methodist Church, June 15, at the same place.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS TONIGHT

A meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will be held this evening, Thursday, at the Casco Bank community room at 7:30.

This week pennies received were: six yards from Mary Calderwood; one yard from Colleen Boyd; four yards from Donald Fraser; two yards from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bennett.

Editorial Comment

Notice to Contributors

Those who contribute articles, news items, "letters to the editor," and advertisements for publication in the "Citizen" are again reminded that libelous material will not knowingly be accepted.

Maine Revised Statutes 1965, Title 17, Chapter 77, Section 2201, states: "A libel is the malicious defamation of a living person, made public by any printing, writing, sign, picture, representation or effigy, tending to provoke him to wrath, expose him to public hatred, contempt or ridicule, or to deprive him of the benefits of public confidence and social intercourse; or of a deceased person, thus made public, designed to blacken and vilify his memory and tending to scandalize or provoke his relatives or friends; but nothing shall be deemed a libel unless there is a publication thereof. The delivery, selling, reading or otherwise communicating a libel directly or indirectly to any person, including the person libeled, is a publication. Whoever makes, composes, dictates, writes or prints a libel, directs or procures it to be done, willfully publishes or circulates it, or knowingly and willfully aids in doing either, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not less than one year."

For publication to be libelous it must be malicious, but malice will be presumed if the material is libelous.

The publisher of a libel is as responsible as if he were the author of it, and it is no justification for him if the author's name accompanies it, in an advertisement, a news story, or a "letter."

"One little-known aspect of the law on defamation that's most likely to cause trouble for people generally is that each republication of a libel or slander is a new wrong. The person defamed can go after each person who relays the story. This is one of the hazards of the law that habitual gossips don't realize." — from "You and the Law."

Truth may be used as a justification for a defamatory statement, but the truth must be as broad as the charge. That is to say, if you state someone was a felon, it wouldn't be sufficient to prove he'd been convicted of a misdemeanor.

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if on brass, time will efface; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, and imbue them with principles, with just fear of God and love of our fellowmen, we engrave on these tablets, something that will brighten all eternity. — Daniel Webster.

"For as much as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart." — I Cor. 3:3.

BETHEL THE BEAUTIFUL

For a century and a half this community has basked in the pride of village streets and rural roads lined with towering elms. The early settlers planned for the future beauty of their town.

As we close the period of mourning for these majestic and now stricken trees we are making a head start to maintain our reputation as Bethel the Beautiful.

The Shade Tree Committee made successful street plantings last year and again this spring authorized the buying and establishing of more fine specimens.

A maple is an intimate and friendly tree, clean, healthy and beloved by song birds and children.

These trees are ours, bought by the taxpayers and placed in the custody of the householders. Experts entrusted with the planting are local men interested in the follow-up and future progress of this beautification project. Let us remember the bucket of water every evening, the only booster a young tree needs.

P. S. How about you planting a native sapling.

HATHAWAY ENDORSES BILL THAT WOULD BENEFIT MAINE BY NEARLY $7 MILLION

Endorsement of a federal aid to education bill that would bring Maine $6,900,000 for schools has come from Rep. William D. Hathaway, who is a member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

The $7.7 billion bill is sponsored by Rep. Carl D. Perkins, (D), Ky., chairman of the Committee, and backed by the National Education Association.

In a statement for the bi-monthly newsletter of the Maine Teachers Association Mr. Hathaway said there is "mounting evidence of the inability of state and local governments to fund the critical needs of education."

He said the proposed act would substantially increase federal aid to the nation's schools, provide $7.7 billion in the current fiscal year. At least 50 per cent of the basic grant would be used to increase teachers salaries. The remainder would be used at the discretion of the state education department to provide such services as pre-school and summer programs, shared-time programs, and hiring additional staff.

Hathaway said "Our national education faces a real crisis. It is evident that state and local governments will not be able to finance needed improvements in salary and programs. The Congress must act to assume a greater financial responsibility."

The Act authorizes $5.2 billion in basic grants to be distributed among the states on the basis of numbers of children ages five through 17. An additional $2.5 billion would be used to help states with the lowest per capita income. This would supplement present categorical federal aid programs including those under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Maine would get a basic grant of $26,100,000 supplemented by an equalization grant of $10,800,000 based on the number of families with an income of less than $3,000 annually. The total amounts to $141.36 for each school age child in the state.

The federal government now contributes approximately seven per cent to the cost of education in Maine, the state approximately 30 per cent, and the local communities about 63 per cent. The proposed bill would result in a substantial increase in the federal percentage.

The bill has been drafted with the assistance of the National Education Association. It would become effective in fiscal year 1970.

In the picture at the right, Margie Swan is about to pierce Sonny Foster's finger with a lancet to obtain blood for a blood-typing exercise. In the other picture Robert Baker and Billy Young are mixing blood from the hand with some blood-typing serum.

During this project students have learned that there are genes that determine blood types, and these genes, known as a gene pool, are found in varying proportions in civilizations and races throughout the world. Students have also found that blood types can not be mixed. All in all, students are finding this project a fascinating aspect of their biology course.

Seniors who have been accepted at more than one college must notify all of these accepting colleges of their final decision. Many colleges accept more students than they actually can accommodate, knowing that there will be some students who will not accept them. However, some colleges have placed students on their waiting lists; therefore, when the college is notified that an accepted student will not be entering, it can then take one of the students from the waiting list.

TELSTAR SPORTS

SIDELINES

by Ross Timberlake

Info II Again.

Passing through the early morning hall of Telstar, I was confronted by members of the baseball team and Phys. Ed. instructor, Dan Hanon, all of whom mentioned to me the recording made on "R-U-M" (great name) "sticking it to me" about my last week's article.

I unfortunately did not hear this fiasco, but if I did would be overjoyed to make use of a quarter and phone the station and explain my last article. This is over for now, but at 7:15 tomorrow I'll hear him again.

Saturday's Lisbon doubleheader did not go smoothly for Telstar collected only one hit, by Seth Timberlake. Lisbon's one hit, one run, winning pitcher was Nyska. Telstar's pitcher, giving up six hits, two runs, and two walks, was Ross Timberlake. Final score of the first game was 2-1, Lisbon.

Telstar's J.V.'s played the second game, pitching for Telstar, Dwight York. Final score 12-2.

Dear Readers, read the "Citizen," and listen to "R-U-M," but to know it all, go to a Telstar game and make your own opinion. Mine is, Telstar's into it.

The Telstar girls took a nice win over the Winthrop softballers Wednesday afternoon, at the home field behind the pitching of Eileen Cole. 31-19. Paula Wight starred in the home run column, joined by Sherry Poland and Karen Keniston, while the visitors also enjoyed one round tripper.

The girls go to Lisbon Thursday, while the local field sees action by the boys against Livermore.

REGION IX SCHOOL BOARDS
MEET AT BETHEL

School board members and superintendents from a three-county area flitted away at the problem of teacher salary negotiations and agreed to closely examine the benefits of area-wide purchasing last Thursday at the spring meeting of State School Board Association Region IX membership held at Telstar Regional High School.

The groups included delegates from school systems in Oxford, northern Androscoggin and Franklin counties.

The regional group has been increasingly vocal on school affairs in recent months and has indicated an interest in coordinating efforts.

A discussion of possible area-wide salary scales and collective recruiting drew response from some 40 representatives at the session, but the liveliest debate centered on approaches to salary negotiations.
